Montgomery Makes Plans For Annual Spring Play

What is the first sign of spring at Montgomery High School? Is it the first sun-burned nose, the first picnic on the grass, or the first convertible driven to school with the top down?

No indeed. To Montgomery students, the first real assurance of the arrival of spring is the announcement of the annual spring play. This year, the drama and glee clubs, both moderated by Sister Rita Frances, CSJ, have joined forces to produce the musical comedy "Plenty of Money," by Mel Wiser. The musical score was authored by Al Davis.

THE PLAY, set in the 1800s, will be performed April 23 and 24.

Eleanor Taylor and Tim O'Keefe will star as Maud and Arnold Baker, while Diane Dragotto will portray Sally. Wallace MacGregor will take the part of Hubert Winthrop. Don Tetresult, Gerry Agnew, Ray Norris, and Jim Rudnick will be seen as the

The Glee Club will sing two musical numbers. Dancers will include Sandy Holtz, Cathy Koerting, Linda Ste-Marie, Marie Simon, Alicia Williams, and Helen Cerda.

WHAT WOULD you think if you discovered that your sweet grandmother was a counterfeiter? This is Arnold Baker's dilemma in "Plenty of Money." His grandmother, Maud Baker, and her cronies have a social counterfeiting group to make money for the poor.

The fun really begins when Hubert Winthrop, president of the bank where Arnold works, wants to honor grandmother for her work with the poor. And when the FBI traced some of the counterfeit money to grandmother—well, then...

Bishop Montgomery High will present "Plenty of Money" in the new multi-purpose building. For the first time, the school will stage a play in theater-in-the-round.

MRS. EVELYN FOX will assist students with their period costumes. Students will do make-up work under the direction of Marie Simon.

Mary Ann Buckley and Dave Ortiz will head the art committee, and Dave Abend will do the design work. Settings will be abstract because of the theater-in-the-round technique.

Stage construction will be done by John Wentworth, Pat O'Rourke, Jim Baglio, and Terry Nordialo.
